Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This bill makes a number of changes in laws relating to sex offenses against children.

Penalties and surcharges for child pornography offenses and for sexual exploitation of a child

Current law prohibits a person from knowingly possessing any undeveloped film, photographic negative, photograph, motion picture, videotape, or other recording of a child engaged in sexually explicit conduct. In addition, current law prohibits a person from knowingly exhibiting or playing a recording of a child engaged in sexually explicit conduct. A person who violates either of these prohibitions relating to child pornography is guilty of a Class I felony.

Under a separate statute, current law prohibits a person from sexually exploiting a child. Specifically, it prohibits recording or displaying a child engaged in sexually explicit conduct and employing, using, persuading, inducing, enticing, or coercing any child to engage in sexually explicit conduct if done for the purpose of recording or displaying the conduct. That statute also prohibits a person from knowingly producing, performing in, profiting from, promoting, importing into the state, reproducing, advertising, selling, or distributing, or possessing with intent to sell or distribute, any recording of a child engaging in sexually explicit conduct. A person who violates one of these prohibitions is guilty of a Class F felony.

This bill reclassifies the crimes described in the preceding two paragraphs as Class C felonies. (The maximum fine, the maximum sentence length, and the maximum term of confinement for Class C, F, and I felonies are set forth in the table below.) In addition, under the bill, if a person is convicted of one of those crimes, the court must sentence the person to prison and must impose an initial term of confinement of at least three years for a child pornography conviction and at least five years for a conviction for sexually exploiting a child. The court may not place a defendant who is convicted of one of those crimes on probation.

Crime	Maximum fine	Maximum sentence length	Maximum term of confinement
Class C felony	$100,000	40 years	25 years
Class F felony	$25,000	12.5 years	7.5 years
Class I felony	$10,000	3.5 years	1.5 years

The bill also requires the court to impose a child pornography surcharge on any person convicted of a child pornography offense or of sexual exploitation of a child. The surcharge is $500 for each image or copy of an image associated with the offense, with the number of images to be determined by the judge. Fifty percent of the surcharge goes to the Department of Corrections to pay for its operations; 30 percent of the surcharge goes to the Department of Justice to pay for investigating child pornography offenses and sexual exploitation of children; and 20 percent of it goes to the children's trust fund for various grant programs.

Proof of and penalties for using a computer to facilitate a child sex crime

Current law prohibits a person from using a computerized communication system to communicate with an individual who the actor believes is under 16 with intent to have sexual contact or sexual intercourse with the individual. In order to show the person's intent, the state must prove that he or she did an act in furtherance of his or her intent other than using the computerized communication system to communicate with the individual (the other act requirement).

Under this bill, if a person is convicted of this offense, the court must sentence the person to prison and must impose an initial term of confinement of at least five years. The court may not place the defendant on probation. The bill also specifies some of the acts that may be used to satisfy the other act requirement. They include: 1) traveling or making arrangements for travel or a hotel with the intent to meet the individual; 2) transmitting an image of any lewd act to the individual; 3) speaking with the individual; 4) obtaining an image of the individual; 5) sending any item to or receiving other items from the individual; and 6) acquiring sex toys, intimate apparel, or similar items.

Child sex offender working with children

Current law prohibits a person who has committed a serious child sex offense from engaging in an occupation or participating in a volunteer position that requires him or her to work or interact primarily and directly with children who are less than 16 years old. A person who violates this prohibition is guilty of a Class F felony. This bill eliminates the reference to "primarily" in this prohibition, making the prohibition applicable to any occupation or volunteer position that requires a person to work directly with children.

Other information

Because this bill creates a new crime or revises a penalty for an existing crime, the Joint Review Committee on Criminal Penalties may be requested to prepare a report concerning the proposed penalty and the costs or savings that are likely to result if the bill is enacted.

For further information see the state and local fiscal estimate, which will be printed as an appendix to this bill.
